GREAT ENTHUSIASM

World's Fair Visitors Amazed at Great Progress Already Made.

All Previous Exhibitions Will Be Surpassed—The Dedication Ceremonies Most Successful.

PROGRAM FOR THE THREE DAYS

Returning visitors from the world's fair dedication ceremonies at St. Louis are enthusiastic over the great progress made in preparations for the exhibition in 1904. Not a visitor to St. Louis this week has now even a lingering doubt that the Louisiana Purchase exposition will immensely surpass all previous national exhibitions.

St. Louis, May 1—The buildings of the Louisiana Purchase exposition today were dedicated with all possible pomp and ceremony. In every way the exercises were a success, but the weather was bad. The wind blew fiercely from the west, and at times so nearly blinded the president that it was well nigh impossible for him to see across the street in which the troops were marching.

Both President Roosevelt and former President Cleveland remained in the reviewing stand, exposed to the icy wind, until the end of the parade, although their faces were blue and their limbs were stiffened by the cold. Conditions in the liberal arts building, where the dedication ceremonies proper were held, were little better. There was no wind, but there were manifold drafts.

Despite this heavy handicap, however, the ceremonies were a splendid handled and the program was carried out to the letter. The police work was excellent, and patrolling of avenues and passageways to the First Missouri Infantry was ably done and all possible consideration was shown to the great crowd, which numbered in round numbers 145,000.

The parade in the morning was somewhat longer in passing before the president than had been expected, for all that he was only fifteen minutes behind the scheduled time when he was escorted by the committee into the Liberal arts building. In order to arrive even as early as that he was compelled to take his noon day meal under somewhat uncomfortable circumstances.

During the luncheon, which he ate at the conclusion of the parade, he was shoved helter skelter by half the people who had been in the grand stand. The food was placed on a rectangular counter, and the president, like everybody else, "helped himself."

The crowd inside the tent was dense when the president, with secret service men and Adjutant-General Corbin, acting as "interference," forced his way to the counter. He was so closely pressed that when he attempted to move his arm his elbow disturbed a cup of coffee held by General Corbin. With some difficulty the officers forced the crowd to allow the distinguished guest elbow room, but they would allow him nothing more. This maneuver forced the adjutant-general out of range of the sandwiches, but the president devoted one hand to passing food to his escort while the other was devoted to his own advantage.

Owing to his advantageous position the president soon felt called on to help out other friends, and he was kept busy passing plates, a service which he performed with alacrity and cheerfulness. The manner of the president's lunching was sufficiently unconventional to excite curiosity, and Seventy-Five Thousand Laborers Idle in New York.

Big Shoe Workers' Strike at Chicago Settled by Employers Yesterday.

A STRIKE AT HOPKINSVILLE

Chicago, May 1—There seem to be an epidemic of strikes over the country. Seventy-five thousand laborers of all classes are idle in New York as a result of strikes. Mostly plumbers, carpenters and builders are now idle.

Outside of three professionals all money given in prizes went to the Paducah Gun club amateurs.

In the Paducah handicap shoot yesterday afternoon the shooting was affected by the high wind, but good scores were nevertheless made and the result was more than satisfactory to all concerned. The following are the winners in the handicap and the money secured:

First money, 25 birds straight, Fred Gilbert, W. R. Crosby, Tom Marshall, A. W. DuBray; second money, 24 birds, Mose and Ben Starr, E. D. Fulford, E. C. Fort, J. T. Page; third money, 23 birds, Rolla O. Helke, C. W. Phellis, F. P. O'Leary, P. C. Ward.

Topeka, Kan., May 1—Several men prominent in railroad Y. M. C. A. work have arrived in Topeka to be here during the international conference, which begins tomorrow. Among these are F. B. Shipp, international traveling secretary; O. J. Hicks, general secretary of the railroad department of the international Y. M. C. A. committee, and E. M. Willis, one of the office secretaries of the international association. Delegates are expected from the principal foreign countries, with the exception of Russia. Germany will be represented by P. Nave of the auditing department of the Mexican railway, Mexico City.

The German and French representatives are special commissioners to the conference sent here by their respective governments to study the railroad association with a view to its introduction on the European railways. The heavy business of the conference began yesterday. Thirty-six cars of delegates arrived yesterday over the Santa Fe. Headquarters are opened on the first floor of the state house. The eastern delegates come from Chicago Thursday morning on a special train of nine coaches furnished by President Ripley of the Santa Fe.

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon delivered an address last evening. The leading feature of the conference will be the address of President Roosevelt this evening.

MONDAY NIGHTERS

Novel Meeting Arranged at the Y. M. C. A. for May 4th.

Y. M. C. A. to Give a Show Soon at Association Building.

The Monday Nighters, the social club which meets at the Y. M. C. A. every two weeks on Monday night, will hold a regular meeting on the night of May 4, and an interesting program has been arranged. The meeting will be an informal social, and each gentleman member is asked to bring a young lady attired in a costume representing some well known song. This is something new and will keep those in attendance guessing for some time to come. The novelty of the thing will no doubt draw the full attendance of the membership of the club.

The management of the association is preparing to get up a show, local talent, to be given some time before the 15th of the month at the association. The promoters will meet today and talk the matter over. It has about been decided to give the show, and the names of those who will participate will be announced later. It is thought quite a neat little sum can be realized out of this if it is made a go.

Skilled Woodmen.
In the South Sea Islands tree-felling contests are of such importance that specially made axes are imported for the work from America. So skilled are these woodmen of the South seas in felling timber that a dozen blows on the trunk of a tree will show but the one gash, as though done by a single blow of mighty power.

TENDS TO RELIGIOUS PEACE.

KING'S VISIT TO VATICAN CONSIDERED WIDE-REACHING IN ITS INFLUENCE.

Rome, May 1—"King Edward's interview with Pope Leo, which took place at the Vatican, will probably be considered by future writers as one of the greatest events of the politico-ecclesiastical history of the first decade of the Twentieth century," says a prominent Italian. "The angust parties to the ceremony represent respectively temporal and spiritual empires of vast power and magnitude. The king is a Protestant and rules an intensely Protestant people. The pope is the sovereign of the Catholic world. These mighty personages come together on the common ground of courtesy, good will and mutual respect. Their example will exert a powerful influence on the imaginations and hearts of men. It means a blow to bigotry that may precede the proclamation of peace among religious systems and sects.

"Nothing could be more important than this, because much of the world's moral energy is still wasted in warfare where there should be unity. The king and the pope practically say to Christians everywhere in respect each other's faiths, which may not agree, but the purposes of which are not far apart. Their combined destructive power should be directed against what is hateful to both. Generous spirits in all lands applaud King Edward for having engaged in a tour dedicated to political peace, to render a great service to religious peace as well."

At the Vatican the feeling with regard to the result of the interview is one of great elation. It is declared that the king's visit shows that the royal declaration in connection with the coronation oath, which brands Catholics as an idolatrous sect, is a mere legal anachronism which cannot long endure. It is said that the holy father regards King Edward's sojourn in his apartments as a beautiful act of courtesy, which will commend Catholic appreciation throughout the world.

NEW ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

SURVEYORS IN FIELD BETWEEN GLASGOW AND BUKKESVILLE.

Glasgow, Ky., May 1—A corps of engineers have begun the work of surveying the route for the electric railroad from Glasgow to Burkesville. The route goes from Glasgow to Summer Shade, thence to Edmonston, thence to the rich Marrowbone valley at Marrowbone, and on to Burkesville. From Summer Shade a line will be built to Tompkinsville, a distance of ten miles. From Glasgow northwest the line will extend to Horse Cave, running by way of Cave City.

The road will be built by the Cumberland Valley Railroad Co., recently incorporated with a capital stock of $300,000. The company, which is composed of a number of Glasgow and Cumberland county capitalists, has already secured the right of way between Glasgow and Burkesville, and the citizens along the proposed route are subscribing liberally to the stock.

What He Had Not Noticed.

One of a family of girls renowned for their ready wit had occasion to cross Broadway with her brother, says the New York Times. Just in front of them was a very pretty girl, holding her skirts, well, rather high, thereby displaying a heaving foot and ankle. The brother turned to his sister and said: "I sincerely hope that when you cross the street you hold your skirts less high. It's simply disgusting." The girl smiled a wee smile. "I'll bet you cannot tell me what kind of a hat she has on!" she answered. Needless to say, the brother has given no further advice.

Heart Trouble Baffled Doctors.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine Cured Me.

There is nothing more necessary to health than sleep and rest. If these are denied you, if you rise in the morning more tired than when you went to bed, there is an affection of the nerves plainly present. If your heart is weak, or there is an inherited tendency in that direction, your weakened nerves will soon so affect your heart's action as to bring on serious, chronic trouble. Dr. Miles' Nervine is a nerve tonic, which quiets the nerves, so that sleep may come, and it quickly restores the weakened nerves to health and strength. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is a great blood and heart tonic which regulates the action of the heart, enriches the blood and improves the circulation.

"Some time ago I was suffering severely with heart trouble. At times my heart would seem to stop beating and at others it would beat loudly and very fast. Three to four hours sleep each night in ten months was all I could get. One week in last September I never closed my eyes. I got Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure at a drug store in Lawrenceburg, after spending $300.00 in medicine and doctors in Louisville, Shelbyville, Frankfort, Cincinnati and Lawrenceburg, and in three days have derived more benefit from the use of your remedies than I got from all the doctors and their medicines. I think everybody ought to know of the marvelous power contained in your remedies."—W. H. HUGHES, Fox Creek, Ky.

The Girls Are Dancing for Aladdin Can You Find Him?

CAR-IED $3,000,000.

UNCLE SAM SAVES AN EXPRESS BILL BY PRESSING MESSENGERS INTO SERVICE.

Washington, May 1.—It is not often that men go around with $3,000,000 in dress suit cases, but that was the amount which two representatives of the government carried into the offices of the Guaranty Trust company in New York this afternoon. The gentlemen were messengers of the insular bureau of the war department, and were charged with the delivery of $3,000,000 in Philippine bonds to the trust company, which is fiscal agent of the government for the Philippine islands. Incidentally, the government saved something like $600 by having the bonds transported in dress suit cases, instead of by an express company.

When the $3,000,000 in bonds authorized by congress for the Philippine government were turned out of the bureau of printing and engraving the other day, and properly signed by the officials of the war department, it became necessary to have them transported to the Guaranty Trust company of New York, to be delivered on May 1 to Fiske & Robinson, the purchasers. Colonel Clarence Edwards, chief of the insular bureau, asked for bids from the express companies, and was informed that it would cost $625 to have the bonds delivered by an express company. Colonel Edwards decided that the express companies were trying to get rich too fast, so he devised a little competition and put it into effect. He secured two dress suit cases and packed the bonds in them. The bonds are in denominations of $1,000 each, and there were 3,000 of them. These were divided between the suit cases, which they filled nicely, and two employees of the insular bureau, a clerk and a messenger, were detailed to carry the bonds to the trust company in New York. The men left here at 9 o'clock this morning, and at 8 p. m. a telegram was received announcing that the bonds had been safely delivered.

TOTAL LOSS.

FIRE DESTROYED RESIDENCE OF ANDY HOWELL—FIRE-MEN POWERLESS.

Last night at 8 o'clock the residence of Andy Howell, colored, at 408 South Twelfth street, burned to the ground with a $300 loss, the fire department being unable to get any water to it. The fire originated in some unknown way while the occupants were away from home and had gained considerable headway before discovered. The Central department was called out, but could not reach it with the water, the plugs being too far away, and had to let it burn. Howell had about $300 insurance on the house and furniture.

BEAUTY AND STRENGTH

Are desirable. You are strong and vigorous, when your blood is pure. Many—men, most—women, fail to properly digest their food, and so become pale, sallow, thin and weak, while the brightness, freshness and beauty of the skin and complexion depart. Remedy this unpleasant evil by eating nourishing food and taking a small dose of Hecol after each meal to digest what you have eaten. 50c at DuBois Koh & Co.

THE PRINCE OF WALES

TAKES MUCH INTEREST IN THE GREAT WORLD'S FAIR.

London, May 1.—The British royal commissioners to the St. Louis exposition have held their first meeting at Marlborough house. The prince of Wales, who presided, made a speech, during which he expressed the hope that Great Britain would be adequately represented.

After alluding to the warm personal interest which King Edward felt in the exposition and to the short time available for completing the preparations for Great Britain's representation, the prince of Wales said:

"I trust the members of the corporations, chambers of commerce and other public bodies at the centers of industry will also co-operate in promoting the success of the British section. The idea is sometimes put forward that it is not much use for British manufacturers to exhibit in the United States, as the high onerous tariff of that country tends to militate against the sale of British products. It should, however, be remembered that there is a considerable market for high class goods in the United States, and that the exposition will afford an opportunity for showing our manufactures to customers from South America, Canada and other countries. It may be observed that both France and Germany appear to fully realize the advantages to be gained in making a good display of their productions, and in these countries large sums have been provided by their respective governments to assist in meeting the expense of the exhibits."

SAUNDERS RESIGNS.

THIS POPULAR REVENUE OFFICER GIVES UP THE SERVICE.

Major George Saunders of Mayfield, the deputy U. S. marshal for this district, has tendered his resignation on account of ill health and will go out of office Tuesday.

Major Saunders has been a good officer and it is with regret that they accept his resignation. He was taken ill last winter and has since been unable to properly attend to his duties and has worked at times when he should have been in bed. His successor has not been named.

WASTE IN TELEGRAPH POLES.

A clever calculator estimates that there are in use by telegraph, telephone and trolley companies in this country 15,000,000 poles. The poles, most of which are cedar of one sort or another, are long enough to reach three times around the world. It would require 250,000 flat cars to haul them by railway, and the trains with their engines would cover 1,750 miles of track.

Arboriculture estimates that it would take 37,000 acres of forest land to grow poles enough for one renewal. If the seed were fairly sown and started into growth it would be A. D. 2050 before the slow growing trees would be big enough for use.

Cedar is the best material, but its growing scarcity and the difficulty of getting trunks big enough for the giant poles now often used near cities have caused a considerable use of pine.

Hence Arboriculture recommends the raising of catalpa trees for poles as an investment. The Catalpa Speciosa can be grown to a size suitable for a telegraph pole in from 16 to 20 years. —New York World.

SEVEN MEN IMPLICATED.

Bloomington, Ind., May 1.—The court of inquiry into the whipping of the three Stevens women and the negro Shively, demanded by Governor Darrin, has finished its investigation. Thirty witnesses were rigidly examined. The evidence implicates seven men. Six names are now known. They are: Tib Cox, William Shively, David L. Gray, "Pikey" Bransan, Lon Shaw and a boy named Jackson. Some arrests will soon follow on affidavits filed by the prosecutor. Gray and Cox live in the country, Shively, who is on the police force as a day man, says he was at home at the time of the whipping. There is much excitement.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"Something is sure to be accomplished

by the man who sticks to one thing"

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Saturday. Frost

tonight. Saturday warmer.

The Democratic machine at Frankfort is preparing to put its slate through at any cost. The opponents are showing more nerve than discretion.

The defense in the Jim Howard case

state that they will take the case again to the court of appeals. They may have good grounds for such a course, but, as long as the testimony of such witnesses as Yontey have weight with the jury, the verdict

can be easily predicted.

The rumor that President Roosevelt would visit France this summer was somewhat premature. While there is no constitutional inhibition against the president leaving the territory of the United States during his term of office, it is an unwritten law that he shall not do so without the consent of congress. In this instance, the consent of congress has not been and can not be obtained.

The court of appeals of the state of

New York has by a unanimous opinion just declared to be constitutional

a law in regard to taxing franchisees that was passed when Roosevelt was governor of New York and its passage was very largely due to his enthusiastic support. It can almost be said that it was this law that made Mr.

Roosevelt president, for the hostility that the law met with from the great corporations accounted for the tremendous and yet mysterious pressure from his own state which, backed by the imperious demands of the western delegates, caused Roosevelt to accept the second place on the Republican ticket in 1900. The enemies of the young governor hoped that his nomination for the vice presidency would remove him from active politics for at least four years.

"A SUMMER FAIRYLAND."

To those who are planning a summer outing and seeking "green fields and pastures new," some place where they may cast care aside and commune with primitive nature, where, tho' the sun shines ever brightly, cooling breezes always blow and great heat is unknown, it is safely promised that among the rocks and lakes of the Muskoka district, about 100 miles north of Toronto, situate in the Highlands

of Ontario (1,000 feet above sea level),

they will find enchantment.

publications will be sent free to any

probably 25 per cent of the people who congested the tent were present merely to witness the chief executive of the nation eating at the Democratic level of a clerk in a quick lunch restaurant.

Some of the diplomatists and a number of other distinguished visitors mounted the reviewing stand to find that there were no chairs for them. It developed that the chairs had been cheerfully appropriated by unofficial guests who had arrived earlier on the scene. With some difficulty other chairs were secured, but they were little used, as the visitors found they could keep off the chill more effectively by standing.

Of all the speakers, President Roosevelt alone was able to make his voice carry farther than fifty feet from the stage. By far the largest part of the assembly could hear nothing, and it was nearly freezing to death. Thousands of people in the rear part of the hall were constantly moving about,

and producing a muffled roar that would have baffled a fop.

When the president rose to speak he was cheered to the echo. He bowed again and again, suggesting by his manner that quiet be restored. Finally he mounted the broad railing in front of the rostrum where he could be seen from every part of the hall and again motioned for silence. There was everything but silence, and President Francis suggested that he proceed with his speech and quiet would follow. The president laughed and shook his head. Taking advantage of a lull, he called, "Now, my fellow citizens, give me all the chance you can for I need it."

The chance was given and the president began his address. A burst of applause greeted his statement that the Dutch had done great things for the country in its infancy and the president laughed in a manner which plainly said, "That means my ancestors."

During the speeches of President

Francis and Senator Carter there were brief intervals of sunshine and the crowd cheered loudly as the brightness came. Once while waiting for applause, that had greeted a portion of his speech, to subside, the president

turned to President Francis and Senator Carter, saying, as he alluded to applause, "That was due to the sun."

Many thousands of people were crowded into the big auditorium, where in the presence of official representatives of all the civilized nations of the world the words of dedication were spoken by the president of the United States. As the last syllable fell from the speaker's lips and the dedication of one of the world's greatest fairs was completed, a multitude of voices rose in a prodigious note of applause.

President Roosevelt, former President Cleveland, President Francis of the Exposition company, President

Carter of the world's fair commission,

members of the cabinet and the supreme court, took seats in the center of the platform. At the president's right sat the visiting diplomatists, a distinguished looking contingent. In this section also were other distinguished foreigners and representatives of the state department at Washington

To the left of the president sat the joint delegation of senators and representatives representing congress, the foreign commissioners to the fair and

General Miles, General Corbin and

General John C. Bates, with many others scarcely less distinguished.

Besides President Roosevelt, other participants in the ceremony were Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops E. R. Hendrix

and Henry C. Potter, former President

Cleveland, Senator Thomas H. Carter,

president of the day, and David R.

Francis.

introduced. He made a brief speech.

After the rendition of "The Heavens

Proclaiming," by the chorons of 2,000 voices, David R. Francis, president of the Fair association, delivered his address.

MILITARY PARADE.

Several Thousand Soldiers Were in the Line.

St. Louis, May 1.—The great military parade, which was designed to be distinctively the show spectacle of the dedication ceremonies, was held yesterday, and it proved to be all that its promoters could wish, and all that the regular army officers who controlled it could hope for. There have been many military parades that have revealed more men in time—there may have been some that were as gorgeous to look upon, but it is doubtful if there ever have been any that were more carefully handled or more immaculately managed than the one yesterday.

Among the sixty-four aides there were fifteen generals, thirty-two first lieutenants and one second lieutenant

—and in all that array of martial possibilities there were not five who had any claim to stand above the foot of the chronology cress.

There were 11,000 men in line—3,

100 regular and 7,900 of the National Guard.

The formation throughout was in columns of platoons, of all arms at half distance, the infantry marching sixteen file and the cavalry twelve troopers front.

Major General H. C. Corbin was

chief marshal of the parade and rode at its head. Besides him there were several notable army officers, distinguished governors and their staffs and members of the several state national guards.

WHEAT.

Chicago, May 1.—The market opened strong and closed at a good advance over yesterday's prices. The principal feature was the very unseasonable

weather and the conflicting advices current regarding the position of the Armour forces. Frost is reported from the Rocky mountains to the seaboard and as far south as Ft. Worth,

Texas. It is hardly likely the market can escape some scare from this although it will take several days at least to tell just how much damage has been done. Chicago deliveries on May contracts this morning were very small, about 500,000 bushels wheat;

250,000 bushels corn, and a few 5,000 bushels lots of oats. The Modern

Miller report summary is very bullish.

Minneapolis and Duluth reported 163

cars against 218 last year, Chicago 32

cars with 30 estimated for tomorrow.

HEN STATISTICS.

Mr. George Litage of Jackson street has some very fine chickens, and two years ago they laid so well that he decided to keep a conat this year, which he did. The hens he kept tab on particularly are two leggers. One laid 211 and the other 223 eggs during the past twelve months. One had sixty days out and the other eighty in the moulting season, when the chickens take on new feathers. They do not lay in this season. He is justly proud of his possessions.

TOO MANY DOGS.

Residents in the vicinity of Broad and Third streets are complaining of the dogs running their cows and killing their young chickens, and Marshal Crow was notified this afternoon of the nuisance. He sent a man after the dogs, and unless the owners pay the license tax they will have to suffer seeing their dogs impounded and drowned, as he does not intend to stop until all licenses are paid and the stray dogs done away with.

VENOMOUS INSECTS.

Investment of French Capital.

A few months ago the minister of foreign affairs of France sent a letter to French consuls in the different quarters of the world, instructing them to report on the amount of money invested by Frenchmen in their various consular districts. France has always had the reputation of being an investing country, a dividend-receiving country, a nation of almost inexhaustible resources. The result of the consular investigations fully sustains this reputation, showing that the foreign investments of France aggregate in round numbers nearly $4,000,000,000.

HEAVY FINE

Wm. Kelley, a Vagrant Got $100 Fine and 50 Days in Jail.

Other Cases—Woods Jones and Jim Taylor in Tronble Again.

William Kelley, a white tramp who was yesterday arrested in Mechanicsburg for disorderly conduct, was this morning fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 50 days in the city jail for the offense, an unusually heavy penalty for a common vagrant but not too great for the offense.

Kelley and a "pal" named Charles Davis were "minking" Mechanicsburg begging, it is said, and caught a small boy coming home from fishing. The little fellow was seized and painfully choked by Kelley and his money demanded. The boy had none but Kelley ran his hand down the lad's pocket and took from him a fishing line. The boy reported the outrage to the police who arrested both men. Davis was dismissed and ordered to leave the city.

The breach of the peace case against Arthur Crawford, colored, resulted in conviction and a fine of $20 and costs. He chased Addie Staton, colored, with a knife and threatened to kill her, it was proven.

Katie Powell and Splitton Hobbs, colored, were fined $5 and costs and $10 and costs respectively for fighting.

Woods Jones and James Taylor, two young white boys, were last night arrested for the alleged theft of $15 in money and a $7 watch from J. P. Robertson, a cook at the Greek restaurant on lower Broadway. Robertson claimed the boys slept in the same room with him and took the money and watch while he slept. The case was continued until Monday morning.

In both cases, for obtaining money by false pretenses and horse stealing, against Henry Blue, colored, the defendant waived examination and was held over under a $3 bond in each case. He was committed to jail in default of the bond.

Kid Dovey was brought into court and partially tried for maliciously cutting Jack Usher, colored, last August. The case was continued until tomorrow.

Andrew Boyd, colored, was arrested this morning for vagrancy, and will be given a trial tomorrow morning.

NEGRO IN BAD LUCK.

Andrew Boyd, colored, who was arrested this morning for vagrancy, will have to stand trial for obtaining money by false pretenses. He had a pistol which he started raffling off, but instead of raffling it off spent all the money and left the pistol at a drug store and later gave another negro an order on the druggist for the weapon. Those who took chances on the gun are indignant and will prosecute Boyd.

Eye Strain Is Nerve Strain

Any excess of nervous expenditure to one organ over the normal amount which should be furnished, is incurred at the expense of other organs. A steady leakage of nervous force through the eyes may not be manifested necessarily in the eyes. Headache, nervousness, indigestion, etc., indicate an exhausted nerve supply which may be the result of eye strain. By relieving the strain we remove the cause and allow nature to set matters right.

Colored Youth Arrested This Afternoon.

Different Tales Told By Boy and Mother—Case Will Be Investigated.

Shelley Hughes, a small colored youth who has been carrying clothes around town for a pressing club, was arrested this afternoon by Captain Henry Bailey on the charge of the theft of $20 from W. H. Argo, of 1237 Broadway, and Captain Bailey has traced the matter down to what he believes facts and says he can make a strong case out against the youth.

Argo had a suit brought him yesterday by the Hughes boy and last night missed $20. Today he saw the Hughes boy and a companion named Jim Hale with a gun, watch and a $10 bill and reported the fact to the police. He remembered the boy coming to his house and suspected him of the theft when he saw the articles the boys had. Hughes' mother, who lives on Pinnel hill, claims they found the money at Second and Broadway, the same story told by the youth, but claims she gave the boy $2 to buy shoes with and $2 to use in trading for a watch while the boy claimed to have kept the money. Captain Bailey traced the matter down and found that the money the boys had with the value of the articles they had bought, amounted to the same that Argo lost, and placed both boys in the lockup. The case will be tried tomorrow morning.

GEN. MILES' REPORT

The Stories it Contains Have All Been Investigated.

Report Is Being Used by the Anti-Imperialist League.

Washington, May 1.—In a letter to the Chicago Record-Herald, Mr. William E. Cartia says:

It appears that the report of General Miles containing a large assortment of wretched stories of the bad behavior of our soldiers in the Philippines has been anticipated by the anti-imperialists and other habitual critics of the army and the administration, for the secretary of war has a large pile of applications for copies, many of them written several weeks before the date of the report. The leaders of the movement were evidently advised of the contents of the document before the secretary of war or anyone else in the war department knew what General Miles intended to write. Before he went to the Philippines, you will remember, Miles was accused of furnishing aid, comfort and ammunition to the enemy. Mr. Beveridge boldly declared on the floor of the senate that copies of confidential documents from the files of the war department had been furnished the Democratic senators by General Miles. Miles denied it, but the senators did not. They refused to give the source of their information, but it was made very clear that the general of the army was in communication with its enemies and was assisting them to bring his own soldiers into shame and disgrace. President Roosevelt and the general are understood to have had a strenuous interview on this subject, but neither of them has ever reported the conversation.

Whatever doubt there may have been concerning the charges made in the senate that Miles was betraying the war department and furnishing the Democratic leaders with documents from the confidential files, there can be no question in the present instance, and you may expect to see his report published promptly in pamphlet form as one of the documents of the anti-imperialist league. The members of General Miles' staff, as I told you yesterday, and some of his relatives and friends, have tried to prevent him from placing himself in the position of slandering his own army. He retires from active duty on the 5th of August, and they have been anxious that he should go out with the good wishes of his military associates, but his jealousy of his under officers and his hatred of the President and Secretary of War are too violent to be controlled. It is almost impossible for General Miles to say a good word about anybody. His nature has become soured by what he considers the slights that have been put upon him. Among all the prominent army officers in Washington he has but one friend outside of his own staff, and that is Inspector General Breckinridge. The chief of every other corps of the army has been attacked in his report from the Philippines.

If the general had discovered anything new a different construction might be placed upon the temper and the character of his report, but it is only a complication of old stories that have already appeared in the newspapers and have long been on the records of the war department, where he could have obtained all the information he submits without taking the trouble to go across the Pacific ocean. His malice is so fierce that he uses these incidents to prove that the army of the United States which he commands is composed largely of incompetent and dishonest persons, and that our government is incapable of conducting the affairs of the islands. Several of the incidents referred to have already been investigated and reported upon to General Miles himself in Washington; some of them have been the cause of courts-martial, in which verdicts have been rendered and the persons accused have either been acquitted or punished. Other outrages which he reports occurred more than three years ago, while the Philippines were occupied by the volunteer army, and the persons accused, assuming that they were guilty, have been beyond the jurisdiction of a court-martial since 1900.

Crushed Would-be Poet.
A retort which bit hard was made upon a would-be poet at his club. "I," said he, "have written a great number of poems, but I do not propose to have them published until after my death." "Hurrah!" shouted a chorus.

HERE AND THERE

Mr. James Wilcox, the civil engineer, relates an amusing story relative to his son's ingenuity as follows:

The little tot had forgotten his prayers and just before going to bed the other night was reminded by his mother of his duty to his Maker, and told to repeat his prayers. The little fellow thought a while and finally said, "Well, I'll declare mamma, I have forgotten them."

"Well, son, what are you going to do about it?" his mother asked.

"Well, you get behind me and coach, and maybe I can get through all right," was the witty reply, evidently prompted by some recent game of football or baseball he had witnessed.

A trolley wire broke on Broadway several days ago and while it was lying apparently harmless in the middle of the street, an old negro came hobbling along, mule-tail basket in hand.

"What's de matter heah, white folks?" he asked, looking long and steady at the trolley wire. "Why nothing at all, uncle," a middle-aged man ventured to remark, but this did not satisfy the darkey, he must have a more definite answer. He plodded along and finally came to the end of the wire where several street car company employees were standing to repair the wire. He repeated his question and street car men began to joke him, assuring him that the wire was harmless and could not harm him. To prove his assertion one of the men picked it up (he was standing on a wooden box, an insulator). The negro looked at the man and then at the wire and finally ventured, "Well, dar suttin' am sathin' powfully fanny 'bout dis heah compass. I sees you keeps some off, and you lets some on, but dis heah nigger am contentment to remain in ignorance of the status ob dis matter, so good day gentlemen, good day, you don't get uncle George to haul 'im' that chain lightning' rod, no sah, white man, no sah."

Commercial drummers, as a general rule, are pretty jolly and accommodating fellows, but an ill-tempered or thoughtless one is sometimes found. Such was the case on a depot line car yesterday when a traveling man with two grips placed on the seat beside him occupied space for three, while two young ladies stood, unable to secure seats in the car. The motorman could not see the grips and the ladies had to stand until Broadway was reached and the car unloaded. The motorman generally requires all passengers carrying grips to place them on the rear end of the car, but occasionally one gets through without the motorman seeing him and monopolizes several seats with his grips which could well have been left outside or set on the floor at his feet.

A good joke is told on one of the crack marksmen who was here this week participating in the tournament about and bears repeating.

One of his friends wagered that he could not hit over ten targets out of twenty, and being a crack marksman and professional at that, he readily took the bet up. Prior to the wager the friend had made sure that all shells except ten had the lead extracted and the weight made up with sand and when the shooting came off only eight birds were broken out of the 20. The marksman looked first at his gun, next at the traps and then at the winner and finally teasing his gun orer in the field sat down and wept. He thought he was losing his "eye" and would have to give up his much beloved sport. It was not until several weeks later that he learned the reason of his falling off and even that late in the day he wanted to fight about it.

Bill players are, as a general rule, considered an ignorant set and fit for nothing more than ball playing, and by some this vocation or profession is considered the next thing to that of the tramp, but such is not always the case. There are many men playing professionally who have excellent educations and who are versed in many languages. There is one player on the local professional team who is well enough versed in seven different languages, he claims, to be able to engage in an ordinary conversation. To the writer's certain knowledge he speaks three. Statistics show that many of the best ball players have graduated from colleges and have gone to professional ball playing as a profession. The season is short, the pay good, and the travel is another inducement often considered.

THE CANAL TREATY.

FEELING GENERAL AGAINST IT IN COLOMBIA AND NO ORGANIZED EFFORT IN ITS FAVOR.

Washington, May 1.—Neither the state department nor the Colombian legation here has received any information confirming the report that President Marroquin has abandoned the idea of submitting the Panama canal treaty to a special session of congress to be held this month. The regular session of the Colombian congress will be held in July and the recent opposition that has developed to the ratification of the treaty has led, according to the rumor, President Marroquin and his advisers to believe that the treaty would fare better at the regular session than at a special session that has been planned to be held this month.

Reports received both at the state department and at the Colombian legation show how opposition to the ratification of the treaty is becoming very general throughout the republic. The opposition is not confined to any class, but representatives of many interests are opposing the measure. Just now, it appears, the chief danger in the ratification of the treaty lies in the fact that there is no organized effort in its support. Neither of the political factions is committed to its adoption, while its opponents are securing a compact working organization to seek its rejection. There have been a few test votes in provincial assemblies on the canal proposition, and in every instance it has been shown that the sentiment is pretty evenly divided.

THE BENEFIT.

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR BOUTS TONIGHT.

Tonight the Hood-Johnson benefit comes off and it is hoped that Treasurer Lee Hood and Stage Manager Frank Johnson are richly benefited by the patronage given them.

Manager J. E. English has given them the house free and they have gone to give Paducah the best boxing bouts ever pulled off in the city. There will be three big fights, two colored and one white, and "then more." The "Alabama Kid" and Randall Hinely, who fought a preliminary before Jeffries and Fitzsimmons this season, will spar, and this is expected to be a "hot one." Lou Hollar of Cincinnati will go against a St. Louis pugilist. Hollar is an old favorite here and was yesterday training in the Y. M. C. A. gym, and is in great shape.

There will be music and it is thought the largest crowd of the season will be on hand to witness the sport.

BRITISH MEET SEVERE CHECK.

Aden, Arabia, May 1.—In consequence of the recent British reverses in Somaliland, it is reported here that the advance of the British expedition has been suspended indefinitely. Major General Egerton is mentioned as the successor of Brigadier General Manning. Information here indicates that the complete organization of the executive heads of the expedition would be considered advantageous. It is feared that the recent victory will embolden the forces of the Mad Mullah to attack isolated posts. The force at the disposal of General Manning is insufficient for offensive purposes, and it is expected that he will strengthen his posts and remain in activity until after the hot weather.

WALKS WITHOUT CRUTCHES.

I was much afflicted with sciatica, writes Ed C. Nad, Louisville, Sedgewick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me, I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used; have recommended it to a number of persons, all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25c, 50c and $1.

CANNOT PROSECUTE SOLDIER.

PROTECTS A MILITIAMAN WHO KILLED A MAN DURING A STRIKE.

Philadelphia, May 1.—The Pennsylvania supreme court has discharged from custody Arthur Wadsworth, a member of the Eighteenth regiment, National guard of Pennsylvania, of Pittsburgh, who was arrested for shooting and killing William Darham, a union miner, at Shenandoah, Schuylkill county, during the recent anthracite coal strike.

Wadsworth with a detachment of his regiment was guarding the home of a non-union mine worker when Darham was detected approaching the home. He was told to halt, but apparently paid no heed to the command. Wadsworth thereupon shot and killed him. It was afterward shown that Darham was deaf.

Immediately after the shooting the county authorities tried to arrest the soldier. The military officials refused to deliver him over and the matter was taken to the Schuylkill county court, which ordered that Wadsworth be turned over to the county officials. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, which granted a writ of habeas corpus and released Wadsworth on $500 bail pending the determination of the suit.

The supreme court in its decision today makes Wadsworth immune from prosecution on the charge of murder.

CATARH COMPLAINT.

Catarh begins with a stubborn cold in the head, inflammation or soreness of the membrane or lining of the nose, discharge of mucus matter, headaches, neuralgia and difficult breathing, and even in this early stage is almost intolerable. But when the filthy secretions begin to drop back into the throat and stomach, and the blood becomes polluted and the system contaminated by the catarrhal poison, then the sufferer begins to realize what a disgusting and sickening disease catarrh is. It affects the kidneys and stomach as well as other parts of the body. It is a constitutional disease and as inhaling mixtures, salves, ointments, etc., are never more than palliative or helpful, even in the beginning of catarrh, what can you expect from such treatment when it becomes chronic and the whole system affected? Only such a remedy as S. S. S. can reach this obstinate, deep-seated disease and purge the blood of the catarrhal poison. S. S. S. purifies and builds up the diseased blood, and the inflamed membranes are healed and the excessive secretion of mucus ceases when new, rich blood is coming to the diseased parts, and a permanent cure is the result.

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and a reliable remedy for catarrh in all stages. Write if in need of medical advice; this will cost you nothing.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER

Or, The Love Story of Charles Brandon and Mary Tudor, the King's Sister, and Happening in the Reign of His August Majesty King Henry the Eighth

Re-written and Rendered into Modern English from Sir Edwin Caskoden's Memoir

By EDWIN CASKODEN [CHARLES MAJOR]

Copyright, 1900 and 1901, by the Bowen-Merrill Company

"The king and queen and most of the courtiers were in London at Bridewell House and Baynard's castle, where Henry was vigorously pushing the loan of 500,000 crowns for Mary's dowry, the only business of state in which at that time he took any active interest. Subsequently, as you know, he became interested in the divorce laws and the various methods whereby a man, especially a king, might rid himself of a distasteful wife, and after he saw the truth in Anne Boleyn's eyes he adopted a combined policy of church and state craft that has brought us a deal of senseless trouble ever since and is like to keep it up.

As to Mary's dowry, Henry was to pay Louis only 400,000 crowns, but he made the marriage an excuse for an extra 100,000 to be devoted to his own private use.

When we arrived at the palace the girls went to their apartments and I to mine, where I found Brandon reading. There was only one window to our common room—a dormer window set into the roof and reached by a little passage as broad as the window itself and perhaps a yard and a half long. In the alcove thus formed was a bench along the wall, cushioned by Brandon's great campaign cloak. In this window we often sat and read, and here was Brandon with his book. I had intended to tell him the girls were coming, for when Mary asked me if I thought he would come to her at the palace, and when I had again said no, she reiterated her intention of going to him at once; but my courage failed me and I did not speak of it.

I knew that Mary ought not to come to our room, and that if news of it should reach the king's ears there would be more and worse trouble than ever, and as usual Brandon would pay the penalty for all. Then again, if it were discovered it might seriously compromise both Mary and Jane, as the world is full of people who would rather say and believe an evil thing of another than to say their prayers or to believe the holy creed.

I had said as much to the Lady Mary when she expressed her determination to go to Brandon. She had been in the wrong so much of late that she was humbled, and I was brave enough to say whatever I felt, but she said she had thought it all over, and as every one was away from Greenwich it would not be found out if done secretly.

She told Jane she need not go; that she, Mary, did not want to take any risk of compromising her.

Jane would have gone, though, had she known that all her fair name would go with her. She was right, you see, when she told me while riding over to Windsor that should Mary's love blossom into a full-blown passion she would wreck everything and everybody, including herself perhaps, to attain the object of so great a desire.

It looked now as if she were on the highroad to that end. Nothing short of chains and fetters could have kept her from going to Brandon that evening. There was an internal force about her that was irresistible and swept everything before it.

In our parterre she was in most motherly, stronger and infinitely better controlled than her own, and I did not know how it would all turn out.

CHAPTER XII.

HAD not been long in the room when a knock at the door announced the girls. I admitted them, and Mary walked to the middle of the floor. It was just growing dark, and the room was quite dim, save at the window where Brandon sat reading. Gods, those were exciting moments! My heart beat like a woman's. Brandon saw the girls when they entered, but never so much as looked up from his book. You must remember he had a great grievance. Jane and I had remained near the door, and poor Mary was a pitiable princess, standing there so full of doubt in the middle of the room. After a moment she stepped toward the window and, with quick coming breath, stopped at the threshold of the little passage.

"Master Brandon, I have come, not to make excuses, for nothing can excuse me, but to tell you how it all happened—by trusting to another."

Brandon rose and, marking the place in his book with his finger, followed Mary, who had stepped backward into the room.

"Your highness is very gracious and kind thus to honor me, but as our ways will hereafter lie as far apart as the world is broad, I think it would have been far better had you refrained from so imprudent a visit, especially as any thing one so exalted as yourself may have to say can be no affair of such as I—one just free of the hangman's noose."

"Oh, don't, I pray you! Let me tell you, and it may make a difference. It must pain you, I know, to think of me as you do, after—after—you know; after what has passed between us."

"Yes, that only makes it all the harder. If you could give your kisses—and the blushed red as blood—to one for whom you care so little that you could leave him to die like a dog, when a word from you would have saved him, what reason have I to suppose they are not for every man?"

This gave Mary an opening of which she was quick enough to take advantage, for Brandon was in the wrong.

"You know that is not true. You are not honest with me nor with yourself, and that is not like you. You know that no other man ever had, or could have, any favor from me, even the slightest. Wantonness is not among my thousand faults. It is not that which angers you. You are sure enough of me in that respect. In truth, I had almost come to believe you were too sure, that I had grown cheap in your eyes, and you did not care so much as I thought and hoped for what I had to give, for after that day you came not near me at all. I know it was the part of wisdom and prudence that you should remain away, but had you cared as much as I your prudence would not have held you."

She hung her head a moment in silence, then, looking at him, almost ready for tears, continued: "A man has no right to speak in that way of a woman whose little favors he has taken, and make her regret that she has given a gift only that it may recall upon her 'little,' did I say? Sir, do you know what that—first—was to me? Had I possessed all the crowns of all the earth I would have given them to you as willingly. Now you know the value I placed on it, however worthless it was to you. Yet I was a cheerful giver of that gift, was I not? And can you find it in your heart to make of it a shame to me—that of which I was so proud?"

She stood there, with head inclined a little to one side, looking at him inquiringly as if awaiting an answer. He did not speak, but looked steadily at his book. I felt, however, that he was changing, and I was sure her beauty, never more exquisite than in its present humility, would yet atone for even so great a fault as hers. Err, look beautiful and receive remission! Such a woman as Mary carries her indulgence in her face.

I now began to realize for the first time the wondrous power of this girl, and ceased to marvel that she had always been able to turn even the king, the most violent, stubborn man on earth, to her own wishes. Her manner made her words eloquent, and already, with true feminine tactics, she had put Brandon in the wrong in everything because he was wrong in part.

Then she quickly went over what she had said to me. She told of her great dread lest the king should learn of the visit to Grouche's and its fatal consequences, knowing full well it would render Henry suspicious of her influence and precipitate the French marriage. She told him of how she was going to the king the day after the arrest to ask his release, and of the meeting with Buckingham, and his promise.

Still Brandon said nothing and stood as if listlessly waiting for her to withdraw.

She remained silent a little time, waiting for him to speak, when tears, partly of vexation, I think, unobscured by grief.

"Tell me at least," she said, "that you know I speak the truth. I have always believed in you, and now I ask for your faith. I would not lie to you in the faintest shadow of a thought—not for heaven itself—not even for your love and forgiveness, much as they are to me, and I want to know that you are sure of my truthfulness, if you doubt all else. You see I speak plainly of what your love is to me, for, although by remaining away you made me fear I had been too lavish with my favors—that is every woman's fear—I know in my heart you loved me; that you could not have done and sold what you did otherwise. Now you see what faith I have in you, and you a man, whose a woman's instinct prompts to doubt. How does it compare with your faith in me, a woman, whom all the instincts of a manly nature should disprove to trust? It seems to be an unwritten law that a man may lie to a woman concerning the most important thing in life to her and be proud of it, but you see even now I have all faith in your love for me, else I surely should not be here. You see I trust even your unspoken word when it might, without much blame to you, be a spoken lie; yet you do not trust me, who have no world-given right to speak falsely about such things, and when that which I now do is full of shame for me, and what I have done full of guilt, if inspired by aught but the purest truth from my heart of hearts. Your words mean so much—so much more, I think, than you realize—and are so cruel in turning to evil the highest, purest impulse a woman can feel—the glowing pride in self-surrender and the sweet, delightful privilege of giving where she loves. How can you? How can you?"

The experience of the women who have used Zoa Phora is no less interesting than remarkable. It tells of pain and suffering from carelessness and neglect, folly and indiscretion. It tells of turning to the one true "woman's friend" when all doctors and all other remedies have utterly failed to give relief from pain, much less cure the disease. It is good for the young girl just budding into womanhood. It is a staunch supporter of the woman approaching the frightful hours of labor pain. It never fails to bring relief to weak organs, displaced organs or female troubles of any nature. Suppressed periods, change of life, leucorrhoea, or leucorrhoea, kidney, liver or bladder troubles, corrects falling or displacements and builds up the system. In the hundreds of cases where it has been used as a last resort, it has never failed and the grateful women rise up from their beds of pain and call it blessed. Here is a letter that well illustrates what a place the remedy has in the hearts of women who know it:

Mrs. Chas. N. West, 19 Abbott Court, Chicago, under date of Feb. 8, 1902, writes as follows: "For years I suffered from weakness, often accompanied by inflammation. Every month I was obliged to give up my work and go to bed, and my suffering was intensely painful."

"Through kind advice I used Zoa Phora and this month the pain has almost entirely disappeared and I am cured of the weakness. I know this wonderful improvement is wholly the result of taking Zoa Phora. I feel like a woman of 25 years instead of 40. I give my consent to use my testimonial with the greatest pleasure. I think we women should feel deeply grateful to think we can find such sure relief and cure in an small as expressed by using Zoa Phora and thus avoiding doctor bills every month, when these ailments come on."

The following named druggists of this city will distribute free trial bottles and a copy of "Dr. Pease's Advice to Women" to all who apply on the above days. Unfortunately there are thousands of women who have heard of Zoa Phora. They do not know that this remarkable remedy is a sure cure for the sickness, pain, soreness and trials of womanhood, and to have them know how to obtain a cure and to be certain about this wonderful medicine is the object of this great free distribution.

Do not fail to call on the days and at any of the drug stores mentioned below for a free trial bottle of the remedy that will cure you and make you a happy woman.

In case you live out of the city or for other reasons cannot possibly call, send your name and address to the Zoa Phora Co., Kansas City, Mo., and they will mail you free a trial bottle. Don't neglect this opportunity that may save your life. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Low Colonist Rates to the Northwest and California

From February 15th until April 30th, the Burlington makes greatly reduced one-way rates for settlers going to California, Montana, Big Horn Basin, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Puget Sound Country and British Columbia. Generally speaking the reduction is from 25 to 40 percent.

The Way To Go

Take the Burlington trains at St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Omaha, Denver or Chicago. With its close connections, the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads, and with its through train service the Burlington offers more to the settler than any other line or combination of lines into the Northwest.

The "Burlington-Northern Pacific Express" is the great daily train with through chair cars, coaches and through tourist sleepers. This is the only throughtrain into the Northwest jointly with the Northern Pacific Road.

To California

Join the Burlington's personally conducted California excursions in through tourist sleepers which are run on frequent dates each week via Denver, Scenic Colorado and Salt Lake City.

Main Traveled Road

One makes no mistake in calling for tickets over the Burlington with its 5000 miles of main traveled trunk lines leading practically to all the great cities and diverging points of the West.

Describe to us your proposed trip and let us advise you the least cost and send you free reading matter.

"Lightness of a 'Dorothy Dodd'"

On the Scales

A great many interesting facts may be discovered with a pair of scales, but it is doubtful if any single fact will be more interesting and valuable to the average woman than the weight of her shoes.

For this tells her the number of ounces that must be lifted thousands of times each day, and a little calculation will show that she lifts tons of shoe leather a day—no small labor in itself.

The "Dorothy Dodd" shoe saves the lifting of more than one and one-half tons every day. A pair of "Dorothy Dodd" shoes are several ounces lighter than ordinary shoes. The feet are just so much more comfortable, and you are so much less tired. Put a pair to the test!

Professionals Leave for Henderson This Morning.

Will Make an Excellent Showing and Hope to Win all the Games.

NOTES OF THE DIAMOND

This morning shortly before noon the local professional K. I. T. league team left for Henderson on the steamer Joe Fowler to open the first series of games this season independently. The full team left with Mr. John Cobb, acting as secretary and treasurer, accompanying them.

The lineup of the team is as follows: Catchers, Captain Tom Clifford and Perry; pitchers, Hodges, Mackle, Lloyd and Morgan; first base, Clifford; second base, Rhamp, of Louisville, probably third base; Le Compte short; Kenney, right field; Murray, left field and Sweeney, center field.

It will be seen that Clifford will both catch and play first as the occasion demands. He is not home at either place. The four pitchers will be worked alternately, but it is expected that out of the four Hodges will come out first in the end. He is the pet of the team and will certainly make his mark deep and clear in the baseball diamond. The team will play at Henderson, Owensboro and Hopkinsville and probably Clarksville, Tenn. It is claimed by the association that they could have secured games at home but that the park is not ready and that the ground is not fast enough. They want it rolled hard with no rats in it. It looks all right from a distance but is rough upon examination.

Mackie, who went to Louisville Wednesday to secure a third baseman, will meet the team at Henderson with Rhamp, probably.

The new uniforms arrived last night and the players took them on the trip this morning to wear while competing with the other league teams. They fit well and are pretty suits. The pants are blue with red stockings and caps and the boys look well in them.

Clifford expects to take "three-thirds of the games" he plays, and will spare no work to accomplish this.

"We have not done much work together," he explained, "and are not in the best of trim, being handicapped on the bad grounds in our practice not hope to show up better within the week. We will loosen up the first several games and then show the people some fast ball playing."

A baseball team has been organized at Metropolis, Ill., and they want to secure a game with the Paducah professionals. The Metropolis boys have played good ball but are not fast enough for Paducah. However, if they insist on a game and want to come up to try their skill, Paducah will be willing and will give them a good lesson in the national sport. It is probable that the team will first go against one of Paducah's amateur teams, probably the "Sterlings" or "Centrals."

The "Centrals" and "Sterlings" will play a match game of baseball at the Wallace park grounds Sunday afternoon and the game will be hotly contested. Both teams are strong and are out of the other's blood. Stahl and Bralio, Hays and Russell are the batteries for the "Sterlings" and Sutherland, Barney and Smith the batteries for the "Centrals." The game will be played at the park unless the players are refused this privilege by the park people.

The Independents are silent and have little to say. They were victorious over the "Centrals" and the "Sterlings" and are the champions of Paducah in the amateur class, but can't play professional ball.

SLIGHT FROST THIS MORNING.

The mercury dropped to 35 degrees above this morning and a light frost fell again. Government Observer Wm. Bornemann stated this afternoon that he did not know if the frost hurt any thing, but that it was not unusual for frosts to appear at this season of the year. Frosts sometimes fall later in the spring than this, but seldom hurt anything.
